Welcome Message

The 45th Annual Meeting of the Japanese Society for Investigative Dermatology
President, Masashi Akiyama
(Professor and Chairman, Department of Dermatology, Nagoya University Graduate School of Medicine)

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

It is a great honor and pleasure for us to have the opportunity to host the 45th Annual Meeting of the Japanese Society for Investigative Dermatology (JSID 2020) in the second week of December 2020.

Before the current devastating COVID-19 pandemic disrupted many things, we had planned to hold the JSID 2020 in Nagoya, Japan.

The city of Nagoya is located in the center of Japan and is famous for many major bushos or the Japanese military commanders of the Sengoku period, including the shogun, Tokugawa Ieyasu, who founded the Edo Shogunate. During your stay at the city for the meeting, you could have visited Nagoya’s sightseeing spots, including the Nagoya Castle, and have enjoyed the atmosphere of the Edo Samurai era, which is inherent to this city.

However, our plans have changed because of the COVID-19 pandemic. After thoughtful deliberation on the present overwhelming situation and considering the safety and well-being of the participants, we have decided to hold our meeting online only. I greatly appreciate your generous cooperation with regard to our virtual meeting.

The JSID 2020 will be the first virtual annual meeting of the JSID, and all of you can enjoy our meeting in your homes and offices without any time constraints or traveling expenses.

I believe our virtual meeting JSID 2020 will provide a wonderful online platform and an important opportunity for the participants to share the research achievements and latest information on the advances made in investigative dermatology and skin science while being in the comforts of their home.

I would like to extend a warm welcome to all members of the JSID and other participating societies. We hope that you will be able to enjoy the JSID 2020, the first virtual annual meeting of the JSID.
